

APPRECIATED PRAISE FROM ACME CO.—"OUR ADVERTISING IN THE DAILY CAPITAL IS BRINGING GOOD RESULTS"

BYLAWS WERE ALL CARRIED

Majorities Were Large Although the Vote was Small.

FIVE FOR TO ONE AGAINST

Railway Extension, Paving and Ravine
Bridge Bylaws Received the Smallest Majorities.

All of the eleven bylaws submitted to the burgesses yesterday carried by large majorities. Yet, strange to say, although these bylaws authorized the expenditure of nearly $300,000 only about twenty per cent. of the total votes possible were polled. This apathy on the part of the voters is incomprehensible, in view of the keen interest that is usually taken in municipal affairs here. The number of voters that turned out yesterday is even less than the number who recorded their votes last February at the time the market and library questions were before the people.

None of the bylaws that were voted on yesterday received any opposition worth mentioning, nearly all of them carrying by a majority of from five to seven to one. The street railway extension, the paving and the Great ravine bridge bylaws received the smallest majorities, and even these were won through by a two to one vote.

As the result of the passing of all the bylaws, and adding the money that the council has authorized to be spent in sewer and waterworks additions and local improvements, the total that will be spent by the city during the next year runs well over the million and a half mark.

The results of yesterday's voting are as follows:

MEN GO BACK TO WORK

Philadelphia Street Car Strike is Practically Ended To-Day.

Philadelphia, April 21.—All the striking street car men have been ordered by their leaders to report for work today. The Union hears say they have satisfactory assurances from the Rapid Transit Company of fair treatment for all the men. Thirty-first death caused by trolley cars since the strike came last night in the killing of a child in the southern end of the city.

Two Children Killed.

Montreal, April 21.—Two children of J. Edward Galtions, Ontario street, a boy of six years and a girl of five, are dead as the result of eating pills which had been left lying on a bureau by members of the family.

Old Newspaperman Dead.

Toronto, April 21.—Thomas Champion, a member of the staff of the Toronto "Telegram," and one of the most widely known city newspapermen, died yesterday, aged 68 years.

C. N. R. in Next Province

Vancouver, April 21.—Mr. C. F. Hamilton C.R., who recently completed the location of the Canadian Northern railway route between Kamloops and Yellowhead pass at the summit of the Rockies, has left here for Kamloops with an engineering party of fifteen men. The next morning will be devoted to revisiting the location of the company's line on the main Thompson river between Kamloops and Lytton. Soundings will also be taken, as it is likely the river will have to be bridged at several points.

CAMROSE TO HAVE ELECTRIC PLANT

Plans are now being prepared and Ratifiers Will in All Probability Vote Funds.

Camrose, Alta., April 21.—The initial steps for the building of a municipal electric lighting and power plant for Camrose were taken last night when the council instructed M. A. Maxwell of Boston, one of the best known electrical engineers on the continent, to proceed to draw up plans and specifications of a plant that would meet with the needs of this town. The proposition will be submitted to the ratifiers and if it receives their sanction, which it doubtless will, work will be commenced immediately. Mr. Maxwell superintending the job until it is in first-class working order. The site will in all likelihood be on the north bank of Stony Creek, just east of the Grand Trunk bridge. At this point water can be obtained from the creek reservoir while fuel can be delivered at the furnaces by means of a chute from the Grand Trunk tracks.

Bullet Hole in Skeleton Arouses Prince Albert

Prince Albert, Sask., April 21.—A definite suspicion of murder came into the mind of the city police and Mounties when the body of a man was found in the high last week, succeeded in again locating the bones of a man who, according to all marks of identification, is the William Wilkison who disappeared from the home of his brother James in the vicinity of this city, on May 16, 1909. Right in the center of the forehead was a bullet hole and in the cavity of the skull rolling around loose was a 28-caliber revolver bullet, which had been slightly flattened by the impact with the skull. Dr. Percy Shelly declares that in his opin-

G.T.P. WORK IS DELAYED

Lack of Labor Cripples Work of the Contractors.

CHANGE OF PLANS AT McLEOD

No Temporary Bridge to be Put There so Track Lying to West Must Wait.

At the present moment it looks as though the rosy plans of the officials of the Grand Trunk Pacific will fall far short of becoming realities. A fortnight ago it was announced that the work of construction on the line from Wolf Creek west to Prairie Creek would be rushed right through, that false work would be put across the Wolf Creek and the McLeod in order to get construction trains across, and the work on the bridge across the Prairie Creek would be commenced by October. Now all this commendable programme has received a serious setback because of the inability to get laborers for the work of grading and laying the track west of Wolf Creek. The lack of labor is very seriously crippling the work of the various contractors. Phelan and Shiley need 2,000 men and the most they can get is 500. Foley, Welch and Stewart could use 1,000 men and they have only a thousand at the present time. And just at present the prospects of getting their full complement of labor is very slim indeed. If men are not available very shortly it is a safe prediction to say that the line will not reach Prairie Creek before some time next summer.

Another thing that will prevent the rushing of track-laying west of the McLeod river is the fact that a temporary bridge will not be constructed there as was at first intended. This information was given to a Capital reporter this morning on the best of authority. The false work across the Wolf Creek has been completed, the last piece of timber being put in place yesterday. This will permit of the running of the track through the cut that separates Wolf Creek and the McLeod river, and the erection of the steel bridge across the latter river will then commence. But it will be well toward the latter part of the summer before this bridge will be completed and the construction trains enabled to cross the McLeod and proceed with the laying of the track further west.

The May Construction Company have completed all their work at Wolf Creek and the McLeod and it will not be long before they will move their camp out to the Prairie Creek where they have the contract for the substructure work on the bridge there.

LORD KITCHENER LEAVES

Sailed From New York To-Day—
Wouldn't Talk to Reporters.

New York, April 21.—General Lord Kitchen, who sailed for home on the Oceanic today, when asked about his failure to visit that country on his way from Australia, said: "I have heard nothing about it, and have so many things to attend to just now I can't discuss the matter."

GYPSY GIRL WINS LOVER

Charge of Theft.

PICTURESQUE SCENE INCOURT

A Score of Gypsies Were on Hand to Watch and Take Part in the Trial.

Ottawa, April 21.—Annie McGill, gypsy belle, is free from the charge of stealing $1,000 from her father and may remain with her daughter, Stephen Stephens, to her heart's content.

In the preliminary hearing of the case before Magistrate Smith at the country police court the allegations of Chief McGill, father of the girl, were thrown out without the defence having to call witnesses.

Under cross-examination by Gordon Henderson, Chief McGill admitted that he had little desire to regain the lost money so long as he could force his daughter to keep away from her spouse.

"I said Steve was no good the day they ran away," said the angered father. "I say so now, and I'll say it every day."

The case provided the most picturesque scenes that have been produced in the dingy old country court room for many seasons. A full score of gypsy retainers were on hand to watch the progress of the trial. From her exalted place in the high raised cot, Annie McGill appeared very visibly annoyed by the whole affair and from different quarters in the court room members of the Stevens or the McGill tribe chipped in their version of disputed points at random.

According to Chief McGill's story the gypsy caravan had about $1,000 in gold sewed to the roof of their main wagon, during the camp at Bell's Bush near Britannia. In addition $1,000 in loose money was kept in a large wicker supply basket. It was about $1,000 of this amount that he alleged his daughter had got away with.

When Gordon Henderson commenced his cross examination, the case resolved itself into a species of guerrilla warfare.

"Are you sure that you missed any money at all?" commenced Mr. Henderson.

"O, my God, I wouldn't kiss the Bible, and leave my children, and spend money to come here if I did not," was the reply with fitting gesticulation.

The father then stated that his travels after his daughter had included trips to Toronto, New York, Denver, Col., Kansas City, Omaha, and then back to Ottawa.

MAY COLLECT TAX ARREARS

British Financial System Once More in Working Order.

CREATE PEERS IF NECESSARY

Augustin Birrell's Remarks Seem to Show That That is Asquith's Plan.

London, April 21.—The government may now proceed to collect the long overdue arrears of the income tax, the House of Commons having by majority averaging eighty-five sanctioned the various budget resolutions and passed the first reading of the financial bill which will carry the budget resolution into effect. There is now no other prospect of the budget being rejected.

Augustine Birrell, addressing a meeting in London last night, revealed Premier Asquith's intention to ask the King to create new peers to override the House of Lords, if that chamber rejected the veto resolutions. Declaring that he knew of no other plan by which the desired end could be attained.

Crisis Is Postponed.

London, April 21.—The country will be given a respite from the general election for at least three months. Premier Asquith announced in the House of Commons today that the spring recess of parliament which will begin on April 28, would continue until May 26, when the House of Lords on reassembling will occupy the greater part of a week in the debate on Lord Bessborough's reform resolution. Accordingly it will be impossible for the House of Commons to take up the veto resolution until June, and the crucial period will not arrive until the month is well advanced. An appeal to the country before the middle of July is out of the question.

Gospel of Health

New York, April 21.—Sunday, April 21, is to be observed as a national tuberculosis Sunday. Every minister of every denomination in this country has been asked to preach on the "Gospel of Health." The National Association of Tuberculosis arranged today to send literature dealing with the war on consumption to all churches for distribution. The large inter-denominational bodies such as the M. C. A., King's Daughters, etc., will also be asked to hold special health services.

Found Hidden Silver.

Colalt, Ont., April 21.—While cutting timber on the property of the Princess Mine a miner uncovered two bars of silver bullion weighing about 30 pounds and worth about $300. Cashed with them he found mounds in which the bars had been made.

It is supposed that the men who had the silver stole it from one of the mines and was afraid to dispose of it until vigilance, consequent on the discovery of high-riding on a big scale had abated.

Birmingham, April 21.—About forty men were entombed in the Mulga Mine of the Birmingham Coal and Iron Company as the result of an explosion last night.

The mine was still closed up today for fear of fires. Between 35 and 40 men, all except 15 of them colored, were entombed. It is believed that all or most of them are dead. The cause of the shaft were so badly sprung by the force of the explosion that they are useless and all other means adopted by rescue parties in an effort to reach the entombed men have proved futile. Following the explosion flames shot up the shaft of the

IS IT GOING TO CALGARY

Company Which Was Enquiring Here
Has Raised Southern City's Hopes.

Calgary, April 21.—Calgary is to be the home of a new manufacturing industry, employing three hundred hands the year round and the estimated cost of which is in the neighborhood of half a million dollars.

Mr. Stuart, president of the "Quaker Oats" company, of Chicago, who manufacture cereals, has spent the last few days in the city, accompanied by other officials of the company looking over the ground and studying conditions.

Mr. Stuart stated that the towns of Edmonton and Moose Jaw had been considered as suitable locations but when he had looked over Calgary he was most favorably impressed with this city, and Calgary will undoubtedly be the home of this big industry.

Another fact that assures the plant coming to Calgary is that certain officials of the company have procured residences here where they evidently intend to make their homes.

Homeseekers Killed

New York, April 21.—Disaster overtook the members of a happy family party of four, just as they were about to sail for their home in Russia, on the steamer Vanderland Saturday, death invading the group as it became entangled in the confusion of traffic near the pier, and three of its members were run down by a trolley car.

Anne Morazik, four years old, daughter of the family of John Morazik, was run-over and killed, and his wife, Mrs. Bessie Morazik, was knocked down, and both she and her 12-year-old child, which she was carrying, were badly injured. The husband and father of the family was the only one to escape unscathed.

NAVY BILL PASSES THE COMMONS

The Vote Came Unexpectedly, but the Government's Majority was Forty-One.

Ottawa, April 21.—The final action of the Canadian House of Commons on the naval bill was taken yesterday afternoon, when on the division on the motion for the third reading the bill was passed by a government majority of 41.

The division came unexpectedly, for when Sir Wilfrid Laurier moved the third reading at the morning sitting R. L. Borden spoke for an hour in support of the opposition policy. Hon. W. S. Fielding followed, and then Edward Bristol of Toronto replied.

The general expectation was that he would move an amendment that more speeches would follow, but he did not do so, and when he sat down no one on the government side rose to reply. On the motion being put, the Conservatives demanded a division which was taken with the result recorded above. The division was along strictly party lines, absences notwithstanding, including a number who were not paired.

Sir W. B. Woods, ex-deputy Attorney-General, was the first witness this morning. He was first examined by Mr. Johnston, counsel for the Commission, and told of his first meetings with Borden and Clark in October, 1908. He also told of his first meetings with Minty in the matter. He had known Minty before in the East and Minty called on him at the office regarding his idea of how a mortgage to the province from the Waterways should be drawn up. Mr. Woods understood at that time that Minty was looking for a guarantee for a railway to the north, but nothing definite was mentioned and only a general discussion took place, and Minty agreed to draft a mortgage and submit it later when he came back. This was done and on a second visit he and Minty went into the details of a mortgage for about a week. They dealt with the form of a mortgage and the guaranteeing and incumbering act. During this week he met Clark several times and had conversations with him regarding the acts and the mortgage. Clark at that time did not give Mr. Woods any information regarding how matters were going on with the government in regard to the guarantee of the bonds, but he had gathered the impression that they were asking for a guarantee of $2,500,000 per mile and five per cent bonds. This impression had been gathered from a conversation with Mr. Woods.

SYDNEY B. WOODS TESTIFIES

Royal Commission Will Sit in Winnipeg on Tuesday—Premier Rutherford
Next Witness.

After the adjournment on Saturday noon the Royal Commission to investigate the Alberta and Great Waterways project will adjourn to meet again in the board room of the Grain Exchange at Winnipeg next Tuesday. This adjournment was made by Judge Scott, chairman of the Commission, this morning before the usual session began.

James A. McKinnon, the right of way agent of the Canada West Construction Company, also made a statement in which he said that he wished to correct the statement that Dr. Waddell had said that he would clear his new agreement if he got his hands on it. McKinnon said that he had been given to understand this had been said and he accordingly wired Clark to know where the new agreement had been sent to. Last night, however, Dr. Waddell had denied using these words although he was very much opposed to the agreement and had asked McKinnon to make this public explanation.

Mr. Walsh, chief counsel for the Commission, also announced that in view of the fact that the adjournment would take place to Winnipeg after Saturday he would call all any more witnesses except Premier Rutherford and ex-deputy Attorney-General Sidney B. Woods.

Mr. Woods was put on the stand first and his evidence proved anything but sensational. He was examined by Mr. Johnston. During his examination a copy of the agreement between Morgan & Co. and Clark relating to the sale of the bonds was put in. This is the mysterious agreement which has been referred to many times both in the House and after the session closed. The copy produced was found in Minty's files and shows that Clark was only to receive part for the bonds as brought out in the evidence of Dr. Waddell. Mr. Woods also stated that he had seen the original of the agreement in the Alberta Hotel here and that he had asked to see it in order to see that the province was getting the full value of the bond as received by Clark from Morgan & Co. and that this copy read the same as the original in that Morgan & Co. were to lay the bonds outright at par.

Sir W. B. Woods, ex-deputy Attorney-General, was the first witness this morning. He was first examined by Mr. Johnston, counsel for the Commission, and told of his first meetings with Borden and Clark in October, 1908. He also told of his first meetings with Minty in the matter. He had known Minty before in the East and Minty called on him at the office regarding his idea of how a mortgage to the province from the Waterways should be drawn up. This impression had been gathered from a conversation with Mr. Woods.

Gross Receipts for the Hockey Season, including Stanley Cup Games, Were $23,000, but Club Lost Money.

Interesting facts concerning the operation of the Ottawa team in the Canadian and National leagues were brought to light at the wind up meeting of the Ottawa hockey club, which took place on Friday. The gross receipts for the season, including the Stanley Cup matches, came to a record figure of $23,000 of which the rink syndicate on a thirty per cent. basis received $6,900, Ottawa having $5,500 to cover expenses. About $3,000 was paid out for players, the salaries averaging $2,000 and Bruce Stuart, at $1,500 being the highest paid. Ten players were carried and travelling expenses exceeded $1,000, the one trip to Cobalt and Halloway causing an outlay of $800. The club paid $200 for referees and other officials and would have had a surplus of $2,500 had they not been obliged to refund $750 for the unused tickets. On this season's operations consequently the Ottawa have a surplus of $800 but having spent out a nice lot last year of $1,000 they must carry until next winter a deficit of $200. The Ottawa expects to be in the National League again but believe it will be on a smaller scale next year.

SOCCER SEASON
SOON TO END

Anton Villa Have Won the League Championship for the Eighth Time Since 1888.

Anton Villa, after a brilliant season, have won the league championship of 1909-10, this being the sixth occasion since 1888. The season has not yet come to a close, but the "Ants" hold such a commanding lead that they cannot be overtaken. At the other end, Birkbeck Wanderers are in a precarious position, and have only one more home game to play. Tottenham Hotspurs are not yet clear either.

The keenest struggle now ensues for the first two positions in the second division and the race lies between Derby County, Manchester City, Oldham Athletic and Hull City. Manchester has 52 points, Hull City and Derby County 48 and Oldham A. 47.

There is the way an English critic doped out the second division race last Saturday.

"Oldham A cannot possibly obtain more than 53 points by winning all their games, and Derby County and Hull City will prove stiff opposition to them when they meet them. Manchester City should easily defeat Leeds City at home, and a draw at Burnley could total them 54 points. Derby County could account for Birmingham at home but for games away rather a tall order; however, I fully expect to see them take at least three points on the road, giving them a full complement of 54 points. Hull City have two strong teams to play in Leicester Forest and West Bromwich 'A' at home, and I question very much whether they will gather more than 52 points, altogether notwithstanding the brilliant form they are at present displaying. The situation is no doubt interesting and Saturday's games will have a good deal to say with the ultimate result. Derby are due at Glossop, Oldham encounter Clayton O., and Burnley will receive Manchester City and Hull City go to Birmingham."

Continuing, the same critic has the following to say about the other teams.

"The Southern League Brighton & Hove Albion have well earned the position they hold as leaders and on present form they should take highest honors. Their Park Rangers have only been doing moderate at late.

In the international championship Scotland headed the poll with four points having won over England and Ireland.

LEE SAMUELS HAS REPORTED

We Have Lots of Pitchers but no Catcher—Johnny Brennan Will be Here To-Morrow Morning.

The cold weather yesterday did not affect the ball players in the least, and Deacon had them hard at work morning and afternoon.

Lee Samuels, the elongated twifter, from the coast, who was not expected until the opening of the season, is here in today and will prove a welcome acquisition to the Edsmen.

He has pitched in the North-Western League for four years and should be able to deliver the goods. Samuels got a bad crack on the pitching arm from a ball thrown by Morse's bat but it only bothered him for a few minutes.

Pete Morse's shortstop, the candy kid with the fans already. He is a stylish fielder and the hardest hitter among the players now assembled. Graft is another man who stings the ball hard, while Baxter is rapidly getting loosened up.

The absence of a catcher is getting serious. Nothing has been heard from Lethbridge yet and a contract agent has not yet been signed. There is not much chance of Copland reporting, so Deacon has sent a C. Q. D. message to Spokane, asking for immediate delivery of the promised receiver.

A wire was received from Jack Brennan yesterday, saying that he would report on Friday morning. Brennan will have to get right to work if he wants to hold his Victoria park.

The practices yesterday were of the regular variety consisting of fielding and batting with a long run to end the proceedings.

Baxter Schultz, Morse and Mills worked out in the infield. Mills has been under the weather for the last two days and his work shows the effects. But Deacon is satisfied that Mills has all the earmarks of a player and will give him a thorough try-out.

Next Wednesday, Deacon will bring on two new gold piece as prizes for base running, as he wants to develop speed among the players.

One prize will go to the man making the fastest time to first, while the other is for the best time around the bases. Here is a chance for local merchants to help out a good cause by offering merchandise, as extra inducements. Baseball players, just like ordinary mortals, can always use hats, boots, etc.

CHAMPIONSHIP FOOTBALL MATCH

A football match for the Rutherford challenge Cup and for the championship of Alberta high school football teams will be played on Diamond park on Saturday afternoon, April 23, between the Edsmen, Edmonton, and the challengers, Red Deer. Last fall the locals managed to defeat Red Deer 1-0 in a very close game and this year's bid is far from an even harder game than last year. Captain Belcher and Manager Hansen have had the Edsmen boys in training with the Alberta College seniors and juniors and already the lads are in fine shape. The lineup will be selected from the following: Messrs. Hicks, Keffer, Belcher, Duncan, Dean, Goodridge, Shole, Crozier, McMan, Deaton, Taylor, and Gillespie.

S. O. E. VS. ST. GEORGES

The Sons of England football team, which defeated the Hibernians on Tuesday night by two goals to nil, has arranged a number of practice games. This evening they play the St. Georges, and on Monday night the challengers, Red Deer. Both games will be played on the Second street grounds.

It's back to the minors for "Chick" Brandon. Kansas City's destination is from Kansas City. Brandon is satisfied to return to Kansas City for further seasoning, as he confidently expects to return to the Pirates.

Heated the Scots, and drew with England, and on each occasion this season played the same eleven. This in sport is a record for the Emerald Isle.

JACK JOHNSON
LEAVES CHICAGO

Is on the way to Coast—Tom Flanagan Reports to "Smoke" About the Middle of May.

Chicago, April 20.—There will be nine people in Jack Johnson's party, which leaves for the Pacific coast tonight. Besides Johnson and his wife, there will be Manager George Little, and wife, Sel Hart and wife, George "Kid" Cotton, Barney Feltre, and Yone Carter. Tom Flanagan, the Canadian trainer, who will take charge of Johnson, will report on the coast about the middle of May.

AROUND THE CIRCUIT.

The Winnipeg Telegram says: "Tommy Smith who has pitched good ball for Edmonton last year, and who also hails from Toronto, came along with Hearty and Elan. Tommy shows any of the old form he displayed against Duluth at the end of the season his job with the Winnipeg team should be assured. Winnipeg fans like to see Canadian boys make good and they will hope Smith proves a fixture as he most likely will."

The Calgary Club is all ready to open the season bases, bats, suits and all the necessary outfit for the season is arranged for. Carney will be there on Sunday or Monday, and on Tuesday the semi-pros will play them at Victoria park.

THE HAT IS SHAKY.

According to a letter from Spokane today Bill Hamilton is having a hard time getting his men landed at that city. There is some talk that the Hat may not swing in as their first thought, and it will be up to Charlie Crist to get his stars into line and take over the franchise. Of course the Hat wouldn't care to do that but they are uncertain it may come to that. Charlie would hate to do it, but Calgary has sports enough to support a dozen teams.

And It Does This to You.

A snatch of improving barroom conversation participated in by two apparently intelligent business men at "Jeffries in a walk."

"What makes you think so?"

"Listen to him! What makes me think so? What makes me think so? Well, why shouldn't I think so? I suppose you don't think Johnson bug?"

"Oh I don't know."

"Of course you don't."

"Well, I guess I know as much as any one that's getting that Jeffries-in-a-walk story. What do you know?"

"What do I know?"

"Yes, what do you know?"

"There you go. What do I know? You don't mean to stand there and tell me that Johnson—"

"I didn't say anything about Johnson."

"You didn't, eh? Aw, what's the use of talking to a crazy man?"

"I'm crazy, eh?"

"Well, you talk that way."

"What did I say?"

"What did he say?"

"I just wanted to know what makes you think Jeffries is a cinch?"

"Say, fellows, can you beat it? What makes me think Jeffries is a cinch?"

"Yes; what?"

"Say, pal, don't you think you better switch? That bonanza is eluding me! I settle this right here. Got any Johnson money in your clothes?"

"I didn't say I wanted to bet on Johnson, did I?"

"You bet your life you didn't. Just trying to get something over without coming down on anything?"

"I ain't either. Every one is entitled to this opinion."

"That depends on how much sense they got."

"O, I don't know. I think I got as much sense as you."

"Trying to start something, eh?"

"Depends on how you want to take it."

"Me take it?"

"You heard what I said."

"Tut! tut! (This from the gent with the white apron.) Take that argument down to the lake front."—Chicago Tribune.

A Letter Regarding the Provincial Meet—This Gentleman Thinks the A. A. A. Should Hold the Meet and not Individual Clubs.

Edmonton, Alta., April 10, 1910. Sporting Editor, Daily Capital:

Dear Sir—I was much interested and amused to read a letter to the Lethbridge Herald signed "One Who is Interested," copy of which was published in your issue of the 18th inst., in which he decides that Edmonton's claim for the provincial meet is nil.

As I understand it, Lethbridge made application to the Alberta A. A. A. for the privilege of holding the above to be held in that city, and the Canadian Society of Edmonton applied for the privilege of holding the above meet under their auspices in the city of Edmonton.

It was pointed out to Lethbridge, through the medium of your valuable paper, that Edmonton sent down sixteen men to Calgary last year, while Lethbridge only sent three. In answer to this, "One Who is Interested" writes as follows: "I am afraid the editor of that paper conveniently forgot that Lethbridge had, on the same day, the largest athletic gathering in the history of the city, with over sixty entries for the various events." On you Lethbridge!

I think the above mentioned letter supporting the claims of Lethbridge for the championship meet is one of the weakest epistles I ever read. His arguments are not in the least convincing but only show the support which is to be expected from Lethbridge, as when a championship meet is held in Calgary, three men represented them, and they did their very best to knock the championship meet by holding a sports meeting of their own on the same day, with a "gigantic" entry of fifty competitors. And they sent "three" men to Calgary!

Anyway, Lethbridge and the Edmonton Canadian Society were both "up in the air," when they applied for a championship meet. Whoever heard of one individual club, in any part of the world, running a championship meet? The one and only body that should have the running of the Alberta championship meet is the Alberta Amateur Athletic Association. It is the A. A. A. who should arrange the date and select the town in which the meet is to be held and the meet should be handled entirely by them or how can it be called a provincial championship meet? To my mind the meet should be held alternately in Calgary and Edmonton as they are the only cities of any size in the province.

The Scottish championships are held alternately in Glasgow and Edinburgh and none of the other towns kick. The Irish championships are held every year in Dublin and are always a success.

In conclusion I would say that if the A. A. A. had the championship meet is too big a thing for them to handle the only other way and the right way to handle same, would be for them to arrange for a federation of all the athletic clubs affiliated with the A. A. A. (none others are eligible) in Edmonton and district to take over the meet and work together and make it a success. Next year Calgary could do the same.

AMOUNT WILL
BE $100,000,000

This Enormous Sum will be Expended Directly or Indirectly on the Jeffries-Johnson Fight.

How much money will change hands as the result of the Jeffries-Johnson battle?

No man can say but it's a fair bet that if you or I could keep cash on all the money expended directly and indirectly we would find $100,000,000 at the end of the rainbow.

Sounds foolish, doesn't it?

Just read some facts and deductions. Begin with the purse of $101,000. It is estimated by men accustomed to such things that the crowd at Emeryville July 14th, will number from 50,000 to 100,000. Hotel bills, railway fares, street cars, automobiles, carriages, the ordinary living expenses of men who can afford to attend the fight, will amount to $200,000 at least—an average of $20 a head.

It's a cinch that $2,000,000 will change hands in bets. The day the fight is fought the press, associations, every great newspaper and magazine will have men at the ringside.

These men will flash world-wide elaborate bulletins and hundreds of thousands of words of descriptive stories. Hundreds of operators will be employed to transmit the money. Another $200,000 will scarcely cover the reporting of the battle to the world.

The gate receipts will amount to $125,000 and possibly more. The present plans contemplate enlarging the proposed arena. Seats will sell from $5 to $50.

The greatest money coxer will be the moving pictures. The trust and the independents are bidding for the right to take the pictures of the fight. One offer of $300,000 and a percentage proposition involving even more money is said to have been made to the Nelson-Brit pictures.

The usual course of the moving picture people is to charge from 50 cents to $1 for the first production in each city. These prices prevail while business is good. Then the prices are cut and distributed among the small theatres. The Nelson-Brit pictures netted $300,000 in this country alone. They made $200,000 out of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons pictures.

It is reasonable to believe that in this country 300,000 will pay to see the pictures of the Jeffries-Johnson fight. In the rest of the world another 300,000 will see the pictures for interest as great in Europe and Australia as it is in this country.

The moving picture men expect to make $500,000 out of these pictures. Counting the cost of theatres where the pictures are shown, the money in the other cities are all strengthened, and will also get the pick of the men turned back by the majors, so a magnificent race is assured.

Another Bout for Driscoll

London, April 21.—In his fight with Jim Driscoll at the National Sporting Club, Spike Robson fell in the fifth round, his head striking Driscoll's chair. A nasty scalp wound was the result and at the end of the contest Robson was in bad shape. This gave rise to a report that he had been seriously injured but he has expressed a desire for another bout with Driscoll.

Make It Five Feet.

It is likely that Calgary will follow the plan adopted by Spokane in connection with the players' benches on the grounds this year. In Spokane the benches were lowered about three feet below the ground and the players' heads only protrude above the ground. The boxes at the park will likely be lowered into a deep excavation, and the fans on the bleachers behind can see over their heads—Calgary Herald.

"Doc" Lawson is out of the United States League, and the chances are good the organization will never open its season, although a schedule has been mapped out and the officers chosen. Just another of Lawson's dream leagues.

EASTERN LEAGUE
OPENS TO-DAY

With Eight Evenly Matched Teams, Pat Power's Circuit is in for a Successful Season.

The Eastern League opens its season today with the following games scheduled: Montreal at Jersey City; Rochester at Newark; Buffalo at Baltimore; Toronto at Providence.

"This class AA organization, so ably ruled by President Pat Powers, is without doubt the strongest league outside the National and American, in America. Indeed, it generally is true that the first division teams in the Eastern are equal in playing strength to the second division teams in the major leagues. Take Joe Kelly's team which won the championship for Toronto in 1907. There was the following illustrious bunch in its ranks: Joe Kelly, Bill Carrigan, now the premier catcher for the Boston Speed Boys; Jack Thoney, one of the most brilliant outfielders ever known to the game. A series of unfortunate accidents have forced the "Baller" with a withdrawal from the game. Then there was Jack Flynn, who is holding down first base for the Pittsburgh World's Champions this season. Fred Mitchell, catching for the New York Highlanders this season, was one of the pitching staff and a 2-0-4 one try. On third base was Billy Phyle, formerly with the St. Louis Browns, whose penchant was home runs. It certainly was some club for a bunch of minor leaguers."

The Eastern League is noted for its uncertainty. One year Baltimore won the championship, and the next year fell to the cellar. Toronto exactly reversed the performance as did Ganzels Rochester Hustlers.

This year, with the salary limit taken off and the different managers given a tolerably free hand, there is no telling who will win this year's pennant.

Many managerial changes have taken place. Jimmy Casey, who did not seem to be able to get a winner in Montreal, has been supplanted by general Ed Barrow, who has had previous experience in the Eastern League. Another Smith, Bill, of the Southern League fame, will lead the Bisons. Jack Dunn is now owner-manager of Baltimore, while Iron-Mount McGinnity acts in the same capacity for Newark. Toronto and Rochester stand pat with Kelly and Ganzel.

Toronto, with its fine grounds and splendid set standards, is very desirous of making a fine showing this year and Ed Barrow simply has to produce a first division team in Montreal, as the Canadian metropolis is heavily sick of the mediocre teams that have represented it in the past. The other cities are all strengthened, and will also get the pick of the men turned back by the majors, so a magnificent race is assured.

JACK JOHNSON,
LIFE SAVER

Assisted Firemen in Rescuing Passengers of a Burning Automobile—Got his Face Very Dirty.

Chicago April 20.—Jack Johnson the fighter has started to pack up preparatory to leaving for his training camp in San Francisco next Thursday. His big touring car, which will be part of the training camp, will be shipped tomorrow, and the following day his baggage and gymnasium outfit will be sent. Johnson, early today, assisted the firemen in rescuing two men and a woman who were buried under the wreckage of an automobile which turned turtle with four passengers while speeding in Jackson park. Johnson, with his trainer, was passing in his car and went to the rescue. Johnson assisted to lift the overturned car, but failed. He sent his trainer to call a hook and ladder company. A dozen firemen assisted by Johnson, lifted the wrecked car. The injured persons were then put into Johnson's car and rushed to the hospital.

Kansas City, April 21.—John Kling the baseball catcher, will walk across the stage at a music hall in Chicago, twice a day, for one week, beginning Monday next, in order, he says, to earn the $700 fine imposed on him by the National baseball commission. Kling last night said that he would report to Manager Chance of Chicago Nationals on Sunday and play out the season for the $750 offered him.

PAR IS ALL CLARKE GOT

The only time the witness had met Bowen was at a meeting at which John Stocks, Chalmers, Minny, Dr. Waddell, Clarke, Bowen and himself were present. Clarke and Bowen only stayed a short time and Dr. Waddell's evidence fully covered all that took place there. This was in October, 1908, and the following day he explained the mortgage to a meeting of the cabinet at which all the ministers were present excepting Mr. Finlay. Mr. Woods also thought that John Stocks, deputy minister of public works, was there with Mr. Cushing, and he had submitted a draft mortgage to the ministers then.

The details of the amount of the guarantee and interest had been settled before he got to the meeting, fixing the guarantee at $20,000 per mile and five per cent. bonds for fifty years.

It was after this meeting that he had drafted the letter from Premier Rutherford to Clarke taking as a copy a letter to the Canadian Northern Co. This letter was the one in which Mr. Rutherford pledged himself to introduce legislation for the guaranteeing of the road subject to ratification by the legislature. He understood from Clarke that this letter would be used in financing the project.

Mr. Woods also said that he took a part in the deals with the C.N.R. and G.T.P. as he did in the Waterways project, taking a more prominent part in the C.N.R. guarantee than in any of the others.

A letter from Minny to Woods dated December 31, 1908, was put in as an exhibit. This letter asked that the necessary advertising be deferred as long as possible as Clarke was in England and had successfully financed the project and did not want the advertising to appear until right of way, etc., had been secured.

The letter cautioned Mr. Woods not to make anything public but the witness said he had no knowledge to make public other than that gained in his official capacity.

Another letter dated January 8, 1909, from Minny to Woods asked the latter

If any arrangements had been made at Ottawa for Dominion aid. Mr. Woods' reply to this said that any negotiations carried on by the Attorney-General would be of a general nature and that the Waterways railway had not been mentioned specifically was also put in as evidence.

On January 11, 1909, Minny wrote to Mr. Woods regarding a possible reduction of capital and asking could a rebate of fees be granted. Mr. Woods wired back to this that no reduction could be granted and that the Waterways people would have to conform to the general rules of the House the same as the other roads.

Then followed a number of telegrams dealing with matters connected with the road but they were not put in as evidence. Several of them were wires between Clarke and Minny and none of them were important.

These telegrams showed that Minny and Clarke were late in getting to the legislature with their petition for incorporation. After they got here they had a consultation with Mr. Woods regarding some objections the British lawyers had to the terms of the mortgage and it was at that time that Mr. Woods first learned about the dealings between Clarke and J. P. Morgan & Co. to purchase the bonds.

He did not see the underwriters' contract between Morgan & Co. and Clarke until September or October, 1909, before the orders in council were passed.

Mr. Johnson put in a copy of this agreement found in Minny's file. This agreement called for the purchase of the bonds outright at par, and was dated August 6, 1909. It also provided that the terms of the mortgage are to be equal to those of C.N.R. and G.T.P. Mr. Woods had asked to see this in the Alberta Hotel and after some demur Clarke showed him the original. He had asked to see this as he wanted to make sure that the province was getting the full amount the bonds were bringing from Morgan & Co. as provided for in the act.

Mr. Woods then went on to explain several items Minny had mentioned and referred to come to incorporation and telegrams from Minny saying the government should come to Winnipeg. Clarke and Minny were in Winnipeg trying to arrange for a contractor named McArthur to build the road. They had done nothing all summer and the Attorney-General was anxious to get them to begin work in the fall, threatening otherwise that they would lose the support of the government. He had accordingly wired this and in reply Minny wired for them to come to Winnipeg, evidently expecting their presence would help to close the deal with McArthur. At this Mr. Cross had grown angry and told Mr. Woods to wire them that the government would not go to Winnipeg and that they had better come to Edmonton and get some work done if they wanted to hold their charter.

Another letter from Minny to Mr. Woods was put in dated September, 1909, in which Minny laid out what he was doing in a campaign. This letter caused a great deal of amusement more especially as it laid out a sort of program for the premier to follow.

"As a matter of fact the Premier was going east to lay a corner stone and Minny thought this was a good opportunity to get several things done," said Mr. Woods. "Minny accordingly drew up this plan of campaign, but far from taking any notice of it the Premier went East and returned again without seeing Minny at all without doing anything as laid out in the plan of campaign."

Mr. Woods said that he did not know why Minny took such an attitude as there was certainly nothing to justify it. The letter had been filed and that was all that had been done with it, although Woods had sent a reply to Minny which however did not tend to give Minny any hope that his programme would be followed. This reply was read.

The organization of the company was then taken up and Mr. Woods told of the signing of the contract and agreement by Premier Rutherford in connection with the company held in Edmonton.

Mr. Woods was still on the stand when the adjournment was taken.

WAS DEATH DUE TO FOUL PLAY?

Inquest Into the Death of James Macalawney Adjourned So That Police May Investigate.

At the Mounted Police Barracks yesterday afternoon the inquest on the body of James Macalawney, which was found in the river on Tuesday morning, was continued before Dr. Braithwaite, the coroner. Henry Branscombe, in giving evidence, said that what drew his attention to the body was a dog, which swam out to him in the river and tried to pull an object to the shore. He also said that he knew that Macalawney had disappeared and was therefore watching the river for him. Dr. Biggar who held a post mortem on the body, said that the body was that of a well preserved man of middle age. The face, head and neck were badly swollen, the features unrecognizable, the hair and moustache dark brown. His opinion, he said, was that the man died of drowning, as there were no marks of violence or of disease on the body and also because of some particles of sand which were found in the stomach. According to the condition of the body the man must have been in the water three or four weeks.

After Corporal Davis told how he recovered the body, Detective Sergeant Tucker asked that the inquest might be adjourned till April 27th, as he wished for time to get together the necessary evidence and also because he thought there were suspicions of foul play connected with the case.

Macalawney was for twelve years in B. Battery of the Royal Horse Artillery, for and a half years being in India, after which he left the army with an excellent character. On his body several letters were found addressed to him in Toronto also a pass-book for the Imperial Bank.

Mr. Branscombe has a theory that Macalawney might have been crossing the river and fallen through the ice where the body would have stayed owing to the water being very shallow. He had fallen in higher up he would have been carried down stream and never touched the spot where he was found, which was just round the bend of the river on the north bank.

WOMAN SLEEPS WELL

Her Naps Frequently Last Two or Three Days.

New York, April 21.—A Brooklyn woman awakened at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon from a three days' slumber and by 8 in the evening she was yawning and showing other signs of want of sleep. This was not unusual for her, for she sometimes sleeps five days at a stretch.

The woman is Mrs. Charles Hodges of 914 Blake avenue. Her husband and sons are tailors. When she is asleep her mother and daughters do the housework. For three years she has taken a nap of from three to five days duration every week. Her usual time for retiring is Friday night or Saturday morning. She sleeps until Tuesday or Wednesday and wakes up hungry and feeling pretty well. She eats a few meals of nutritious food, attends to neglected housework and goes to sleep on Friday night or the following morning.

Mrs. Hodges seems to sleep peacefully and like one in natural sleep. She says she has pleasant dreams. She cannot be awakened. Physicians have tried needle pricks electric applications and in other ways but without success. Hypnotic suggestion is to be tried next.

Calles and College Drive.

The Caledonians and Alberta College football teams played a fast and exciting game on the Exhibition grounds last night, resulting in a draw with no score for either team.

The Calles had the advantage of weight and had evidently more practice than their opponents, but the College defence was strong.

The fair crowds were down in large numbers and cheered lustily for the College. The line-up was as follows: College—Goal, Honebliss; tackle, Sells and Webster; half-backs, Cook, Clayton and McLeod; forwards, Walker, Colwell, Bailey, Law and Driver.

Caledonians—Goal, Orr; backs, McDonald and Bruce; half-backs, Beldland, Mordock and Johnson; forwards, Cowan, Torrence, Ferrier, Smith and Davies.

Kids Defeat Cubs.

The Kids defeated the Cubs in a schedule game of the Y.M.C.A. basketball league last night by a score of 40 to 28. This game gave the Kids a substantial lead, the Stars being second in the running. Following is the line-up:

Kids—Parney, Callen, Dunham, Dykes, and Waugh.

Cubs—Freeman, Nicholson, Cranston, Taylor and Chinnick.

Month-old Litigant

Spokane, April 21.—Howell L. Sisson, 30-day-old son of Mrs. Carrie L. Sisson, of Spokane, who was awarded a judgment for $2,000 against the Northern Pacific Railway company in the Spokane county superior court, is probably the youngest litigant that has been successful as a principal in any case of record in the United States. The baby won without a contest.

H. L. Sisson, father of the infant, and husband of Mrs. Sisson, was killed by a train at Sandpoint, Idaho, while making a trip as a brakeman from Paradise, Mont., to Spokane, on August 30, 1909. The suit was for $5,000 damages, but a compromise was made for $2,000, and Judge J. D. Hinkley signed a judgment for that amount, which was paid at once to Mrs. Sisson, who has been appointed guardian.

Germ Play is Latest

Madison, Wis., April 21.—A surprise that students of the bacteriological department of the state university were preparing to spring on the faculty of the university has become known. A two-act comedy, in which the dramatic personae are all portrayals of young germs will be given tonight by a company consisting entirely of girls, in the strangest costumes ever put upon the stage.

The characters will be types of the bacilli of pneumonia, tuberculosis and tetanus. The essential point of the play is the war between the denizens of germland and the human race, but interwoven with this is a weird love story of the wedding of Teddy, an up-to-date young tuberculosis germ, to Bessie Bacillus, a stenographer of the world of pathological microbes. One of the leading characters is Mike Rober, a rosy, who interferes at various times to delay the climax of the play and to interrupt the love scenes of Teddy and Bessie.

THE PURE-BRED SCRUB

During the discussion on the question of discouraging the use of scrub grade stallions, Mr. J. G. Clark of Irma struck the keynote when he told the pure-bred horse breeders at their annual convention held in Calgary on July 31st, that the reason why the grade scrub stallion is so largely used in the newer settlements is because he has been found to be superior to the pure-bred scrub that usually goes there. His first point of superiority lying in the fact that he is almost always a foal getter. He stated that in his opinion the time would not be ripe for prohibiting the travelling of grade stallions until the pure-bred scrub had been eliminated. Mr. Clark stated further that his observation had been that the grade scrub very soon disappears after a high class pure-bred has demonstrated his superiority. And he might have added that the owners of pure-breds have no right to ask him to disappear any sooner.

As a rule the use of grade stallions should always be discouraged, yet many conditions arise in a new country which make its use not only justifiable but wise. The complaint of some of the horse breeders that at the present time a large number of high-class pure bred stallions are left almost without patronage while a lot of grade horses are making money for their owners, can hardly be said to be generally true.

Judging from reports of the various stallion sales made in the province, we are convinced that pure-bred stallions are bringing all they are worth, and that there are very few animals whose merits are known, begging buyers at the present time.

The attitude of Mr. Geo. Lane of Pekisko, the new president of the Horse Breeders' Association, toward the question of eliminating the pure-bred scrubs is to be commended. Mr. Lane insists that no stallion should be permitted to stand for service without first having been examined by a competent "vet" and pronounced free from hereditary disease. As Mr. Lane is one of the largest stallion owners in Alberta, he would naturally be a heavy loser in case his animals are not able to stand the test, and his advocacy that such a test be made is evidence that Mr. Lane wishes his horses to win solely on their merits.

Jet Handles and Fringe Trim Many of the Smartest Parasols.

It is early in the season to talk of parasols, but the shops are full of the most beautiful new models. Pongee parasols are much in evidence in the display trimmed with bands of green, blue and brown satin on the edge.

The latest sunshades have their handles three inches deep, and instead of the regulation strap fastener a large ivory ring attached to a long ivory silk cord holds the folds in place. The ribs curl outward at the top. The handles when of wood harmonize with the tone of the covering.

Jet has been employed for a number of parasol handles. One new model is in night blue satin with a deep border of jet fringe. The wood stick is in the purplish blue hue of this silk with a jet top. A jet ring serves as a clasp.

MISSES' PRINCESS PETTICOAT.

Princess petticoats are worn by all smart girls nowadays. In such a garment there is no bulk over the hips or at the waist line, and the blouse provides fullness and flare at the lower portion. Batiste with banding and trimming of embroidery makes the petticoat sketched.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes for girls of twelve, fourteen and sixteen years of age. Send 5c cents to this office, giving number, 469, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage, which insures more prompt delivery.

11 LOTS IN HEMPRIGGS

will be put on the market at the price of

ONLY

$110.00

EACH

TERMS : — One third cash, at the time of sale and the balance in 6 and 12 months at 6 p.c. interest, 5 p.c. discount for cash.

As the public well know who are acquainted with Realty values, this is a very great bargain, and we wish to state to those who may not have time to examine this property before purchasing, that we will positively guarantee every lot to be high and dry, and if upon examination of property any purchaser is not satisfied they have got a bargain, we will return any monies they may have paid down upon the property, within three days from date of sale.—This should be conclusive proof to those who do not know values, and to those who do we advise you to act quickly. We have never had anything better either in quality or value to offer for this extremely low price. Remember these lots are all large lots and are located on the west side of the street.

HEARST'S ABOUT TURN

Endorses Taft and Warns Nation Against Roosevelt.

Washington, April 21.—Wm. Randolph Hearst issued last night a remarkable statement over his signature, in which he unqualifiedly endorses Taft, criticizes in the severest terms the administration of Roosevelt and warns the American nation against the renewal of the political domination of the former President.

Over One Thousand Killed.

Washington, D.C., April 21.—A large increase in the number of casualties on American railroads is shown by the report for the quarter ending December 31, 1909, as compared with the corresponding quarter in 1908. A bulletin issued today by the Interstate Commerce Commission shows an increase in the number of persons killed of 301 and injured 5,645. The total number of persons killed was 1,009 and the total number injured 22,491.

COMPANY MAKES MONEY

Edmonton and Calgary Land Co. Declares Dividend.

London, April 21.—The Edmonton and Calgary Land Company has declared a dividend of 2s per share. 3s per share has been returned to shareholders. When a further 4s has been returned, as is proposed, the capital will be reduced to 1s per share. The year's profits were 420,042 pounds sterling.

Servia Is Flooded.

Belgrade, April 21.—Servia is again flooded as the result of torrential rains during the past few days. At Kragujevac, where the floods were most severe, twelve deaths have already occurred, while the damage to property is enormous. The whole country from Kragujevac to Lapevo, a distance of twenty miles, resembles a vast lake. Several villages have been inundated almost to the tops of the houses and it is feared that a large number of people as well as thousands of sheep and cattle have been drowned.

Rubber Prices Go Up.

New York, April 21.—Rubber coats, boots and surgical accessories and other rubber goods will cost more from now on. The United States Rubber Co. announces today that the price of rubber will advance approximately ten per cent. The reason for the advance is the increased cost of the raw material.

Chief Put Out Fire Alone.

Montreal, April 21.—Chief Tremblay, of the fire brigade, last night put out a fire single handed, owing to the speed of his new automobile. A fire broke out in the Banque Nationale on St. James street, and Chief Tremblay at once started for it in his car, setting there before any of the fire brigade arrived and extinguished the blaze.

THE PORT OF MISSING MEN

By MEREDITH NICHOLSON.
Author of "The House of a Thousand Candles"

COPYRIGHT, 1907, BY THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY

"Don't be foolish, Dick. It's unnecessary to see an officer and a gentleman, but if you should see Mr. Singleton again."

"Yes—not if I see him first!" ejaculated Clairborne.

"Well, you might ask him who Mr. Armitage is. It would be amusing—and satisfying—to know."

Later in the day the old attaché fell upon Clairborne in the smoking room and stopped to discuss a report that change was impending in the American state department. Changes at Washington did not trouble Singleton, who was sure of his future. He said as much, and after some further talk Clairborne remarked:

"Your friend Armitage seems a good sort."

"Oh, yes; a capital talent and thoroughly well posted in affairs."

"Yes, he seemed interesting. Do you happen to know where he lives—when he's at home?"

"Lord bless you, boy, I don't know anything about Armitage," spluttered Singleton, with the emphasis so thrown as to imply that of course in any other branch of human knowledge he would be found abundantly qualified to answer questions.

"But you introduced us to him—my sister and me. I assumed—"

"My dear Clairborne, I'm always introducing people! It's my business to introduce people. Armitage is all right. It's always around everywhere. I've dined with him in Paris, and I've rarely seen a man order a better dinner."

Chapter III

DARK TIMINGS.

His second day thereafter Shirley Clairborne went into a jeweler's on the Grand Quay to purchase a trinket that had caught her eye while she waited for Dick, who had gone off in their carriage to the postoffice to send some telegrams. It was a small shop and the time early morning when few people were about. A man who had preceded her was looking at watches and seemed deeply absorbed in this occupation. She heard his inquiries as to quality and price and knew that it was Armitage's voice before she recognized his tall figure. She saw her purchase quickly and was about to leave the shop when he turned toward her, and she bowed.

"Good afternoon, Miss Clairborne. Are there very tempting bargains, aren't they? If the abominable tariff laws of America did not give us pause—"

"He lent above her, hat in hand, smiling. He had concluded the purchase of a watch, which the shopkeeper was now wrapping in a box.

"I have just purchased a little new wrapping for my ranch forearm out in Montana, and before I can place it in his hands it must be examined and approved and all the pleasure of the gift destroyed by the custom officers in New York. I hope you are a good watchman, Miss Clairborne."

"I'd like to be. Women are supposed to have a knack at the business, but my father is so patriotic that he makes me desire everything."

"Patriotism will carry one far, but I object both to being taxed and to the alternative of corrupting the gentlemen who lie in wait at the receipt of customs."

"Of course the answer is that Americans should pay at home," replied Shirley. She received her change, and Armitage placed his small package in his pocket.

"My brother expected to meet me here. He ran off with our carriage," Shirley explained.

"These last errands are always trifle. There are innumerable things one must come to come back for from midnight, until or no tariff."

"There's the wireless," said Shirley. "I shall be able to contact you afterthoughts to it." But just as she had nearly managed that way. After getting home she still thought of scores of things she should like to see again that photographs don't give."

Armitage had been the subject of so much jutting between Dick and herself that it seemed strange to her that he should be so friendly to her. His face brightened pleasantly when he spoke. His eyes were greyer than his had mockingly derided her in her brother's benefit the day before. His manner was grave, courteous, and she did not at all believe that he had followed her here.

Armitage was aware that a jeweler's shop was hardly the place for extended conversation with a young woman whom he scarcely knew, but he lingered in the joy of hearing this American girl's voice, and what she said interested him immensely. He had seen her first in Paris a few months before at an exhibition of battle paintings. He had come upon her standing quite alone before "High Tide at Gettysburg," the picture of the year, and he had noted the quick mounting of color to her cheeks as the splendid movement of the painting—its ardor and fire—looked off her. He saw her again in Florence, and it was from there that he had deliberately followed the Clairbornes.

His own plans were now quite unsettled by his interview with Von Strobel. He fully expected Chauvenet in Geneva. The man had apparently been on cordial terms with the Clairbornes, and he had seemed to be master of his own time. It was wholly possible that he would appear before the Clairbornes left Geneva. It was now the second day after Von Strobel's departure, and Armitage began to feel uneasy.

He stood with Shirley quite near the shop door. The carriage drove up, and Dick Clairborne came up to them at once and bowed to Armitage.

"There is second news. Count Ferdinand von Strobel was murdered in his railway carriage between here and Vienna. They found him dead at Innsbruck this morning."

"Is it possible? Are you quite sure he was murdered?"

"Yes, he seemed interesting. Do you happen to know where he lives—when he's at home?"

"Lord bless you, boy, I don't know anything about Armitage," spluttered Singleton, with the emphasis so thrown as to imply that of course in any other branch of human knowledge he would be found abundantly qualified to answer questions.

"But you introduced us to him—my sister and me. I assumed—"

"My dear Clairborne, I'm always introducing people! It's my business to introduce people. Armitage is all right. It's always around everywhere. I've dined with him in Paris, and I've rarely seen a man order a better dinner."

"That is quite likely," said John Armitage, with unbroken gravity. "In fact, I rather expect him here, or I should be leaving today myself."

He bowed and made way for the impatient Clairborne, who gave his hand to Armitage hastily and jumped into the carriage.

"Your initiation cut glass drummer has nearly caused us to miss our train. Thank the Lord, we've seen the last of that fellow!"

Shirley said nothing, but gazed out of the window with a wondering look in her eyes. And on the way to Liverpool she thought often of Armitage's last words. "I rather expect him here, or I should be leaving today myself," he had said.

She was not sure whether, if it had not been for those words, she would have thought of him again at all. She remembered him as he stood framed in the carriage door—his gravity, his fine face, the impression he gave of great physical strength and of resources of character and courage.

And so Shirley Clairborne left Geneva, and she thought of him again at all. She remembered him as he stood framed in the carriage door—his gravity, his fine face, the impression he gave of great physical strength and of resources of character and courage.

...and there will be something doing in Austria now that he's out of the way."

Four days passed, in which they devoted themselves to their young brother. The papers were filled with accounts of Count von Strobel's death and speculations as to its effect on the future of Austria and the peace of Europe. The Clairbornes saw nothing of Armitage. "Yet asked for him in the hotel and found that he had gone, but would return in a few days."

It was on the morning of the fourth day that Armitage appeared suddenly at the hotel as Dick and his sister went out for a carriage to carry them to their train. He had just returned, and they met by the narrowest margin. He walked with them to the door of the Monte Rosa.

"We are running for the King Edward and hope for a day in London before we sail. Perhaps we shall see you one of these days in America," said Clairborne, with some malice, but he could not resist, for his sister's benefit.

"That is possible. I am very fond of Washington," responded Armitage carelessly.

"I suppose you will look us up," persisted Dick. "I shall be at Fort Myer for awhile, and it will always be a pleasure—"

Clairborne turned for a last word with the porter about their baggage, and Armitage stood talking to Shirley, who had just entered the carriage.

"Oh, is there any news of Count von Strobel's assassin?" she asked, holding the newspaper that Armitage had in his hand.

"Nothing. It's a very mysterious and puzzling affair."

"It's horrible to think such a thing possible. He was a wonderful old man. But very likely they will find the murderer."

"Yes, undoubtedly."

"The secret police will scour Europe in pursuit of the assassin," she observed.

"That," replied Armitage gravely. "The truth will be known before we sail, no doubt," said Shirley. "The assassin may be here in Geneva by this time."

"That is quite likely," said John Armitage, with unbroken gravity. "In fact, I rather expect him here, or I should be leaving today myself."

He bowed and made way for the impatient Clairborne, who gave his hand to Armitage hastily and jumped into the carriage.

McKinnon Tells Commission How it Was Done.

ONLY THE PRIVATE FILES

This afternoon session of the commission was hardly sensational, but, like the morning, it was interesting. At the beginning of the session McKinnon, the right of way agent for the construction company was again on the stand and he told of finding James Thom to remove the private files of the attorney general to the house of his private secretary after Cross had resigned. The story was given very fully, and although Mr. Bennett tried to make out that it was done mysteriously and with an ulterior purpose his efforts fell flat. Although his remarks caused some laughter.

He was somewhat nonplussed when McKinnon informed him at the beginning of his remarks that he, the witness, could tell him nothing that Bennett did not already know from information given by his agent in questioning the people from whom they got the rig when they removed the files.

Another interesting point was reached when George Seymour the auditor of the company quoted from a personal letter he had received from Clarke yesterday. Mr. Seymour did not want the contents of the letter made public but Johnstone, who was examining him insisted and the witness then said that the letter told him that "the judges of the commission were gentlemen of the highest character and could be depended on to do their duty, but to beware of lawyers and demagogues who were not inspired by honest motives but were the greedy tools of richer and wiser men."

McKinnon's Evidence

Mr. Bennett took up the examination of McKinnon again in the afternoon and the first question asked was what took the witness to see Mr. Cross at the latter's home on March 8 of this year. In reply to this McKinnon said he was on business of the Liberal Club and it was then that Mr. Cross had told him that he had resigned. He was positive that there never was a subscription or donation of any kind received by the Liberal Club from Mr. Cross. Mr. Bennett then questioned Mr. Cross regarding the telegram to Clarke announcing that Mr. Cross had resigned. McKinnon said he sent it as he thought Clarke would like to have some authority as to whether it was correct or not and he did not know whether he received a reply or not.

The Juries papers were then taken up and McKinnon explained that although he had heard of the claim being made he did not know until he went to Winnipeg on March 8 when the Edmonton lawyers who had the papers were, Clarke or Minty told him then who had the papers here and although Clarke had told him in Edmonton that he was going to get the papers he did not say how he was going to get them. It was about three days after this that he had wired Clarke that Mr. Cross had resigned and urged him to close up the business of getting the papers as per his statement that he would.

The part of the telegram reading that the government policy regarding the railway remained unchanged despite the fact that attorney general had resigned and that Mr. Cushing was going back was the impression he had gained from hearing this matter discussed generally and it was only sent as such. Bennett asked McKinnon pointblank if he had been given this information by any member of the government at that time and the witness gave a very decided negative answer. He had not consulted with any members of the House on the subject but had attended all the sessions and had sent this message as the result of the observations he had made there. Mr. Bennett asked him if a wire telling him to tell Mr. Biggar that the matter was being fixed up was a reply to this message. Mr. McKinnon stated that it was not as the answer was received too early to be the answer to that particular message. However different messages had been sent regarding the same matter and this one message saying that the matter was being closed up was an answer to them all.

Of one thing the witness was quite sure and that was that all the messages had been sent by himself. Their contents had been gathered from different sources, conversations with Big-gar, his own observations and general talk.

Mr. Bennett then asked where the information came from when he wired Clarke that the government had been sustained by a small but solid majority which would grow on subsequent divisions. This had been gathered from his own observations in the House and the phrase "Cross is in charge," meant that the attorney general had the situation well in hand. "Everything O.K.," meant that the situation was clearing up.

Another message beginning: "Am told most important that you should return to Edmonton," sent by the witness to Clarke had been sent after he had seen Mr. Biggar and had been told that a judicial inquiry would be held. He gathered from this conversation with Mr. Biggar that Clarke would be wired to give evidence and consequently wanted him to come here.

The witness himself had an idea that this would clear up everything and told Clarke this in the telegram.

He had not discussed the new contract with Clarke in Winnipeg at all as he went there merely to talk over the situation generally with Clarke.

At Winnipeg any opinions the latter might ask. At that time he had taken Clarke when he would be in Edmonton and Clarke gave him to understand he would be there when commission opened its investigation. The first information he had that Clarke would not be here was when it was announced in the commission by Mr. Walsh.

Come From

The purchasers of the McFadden property, near the University in Strathcona, have had plans prepared which provide for 37 blocks. A circular section is provided for in the centre, practically all the streets connecting with it. The subdivision is to be known as Windsor Park.

The regular meeting of Edmonton Lodge, No. 30, I.O.O.F., will be held this evening in the Oddfellows' Hall, Jasper avenue. A number of candidates will be initiated into the mysteries of the Order and final arrangements will be made for the anniversary services to be held in the Grace Methodist Church next Sunday afternoon.

The corner stone of the new McDougall Methodist Church will be laid this evening by Mrs. E. B. Hardisty, a daughter of the Rev. Gen. McDougall, after whom the church is named, and who built the first Protestant Church in Edmonton, when he laid the foundations for the first Methodist Church on almost the same site as the one will occupy. Dr. Riddell will preside at the ceremony this evening, which will be held at seven o'clock. His Honor the Lieut.-Governor will give an address, and the Rev. Archdeacon Gray and Rev. Dr. Hunter will also speak. The resident ministers of the various other churches will also take part in the service.

In a few days' time Frank J. P. Crean, E.C., will start north again with his outfit. This year Mr. Crean will continue the work he was engaged in last fall, in the country north of the Clearwater river, and if the country proves promising, he will stay through the winter and continue his explorations next summer. In 1908 Mr. Crean explored Saskatchewan north of Prince Albert to the Churchill river under the direction of R. E. Young, superintendent of the Railway Lands Branch at Ottawa, and last year he crossed Beaver river and went further west. Mr. Crean gathers information concerning the minerals, water, timber, game and fish to be found in the country as well as doing a quantity of survey work.

Building Inspector McKinnon is getting busy in seeing that the building bylaws are being lived up to. As a result, besides the case up yesterday, two more contractors were charged in the police court today with committing breaches of the bylaw. James D. Blaney, a contractor on the new Methodist Church at the corner of First street and College avenue, was charged with piling cement sills, stone and lumber on the street opposite the building without first getting out a permit. O. J. Edinger, who is erecting a building on Rice street, was up on a similar charge. Thure Gustafson, the man who yesterday charged E. J. Clarke with nonpayment of wages, was in turn this morning charged with assaulting his former employer. All the cases are set for this afternoon.
